Planning for Healthy Babies ProgramSM (P4HBSM) 1115 Demonstration in Georgia
Year 2

Quarter 2
April 1-June 30, 2012

Submitted to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services

by:

The Georgia Department of Community Health (DCH)

August 30, 2012

OVERVIEW

The Georgia Department of Community Health (DCH) continued its efforts to increase awareness of and enrollment in its 1115 Demonstration, the Planning for Healthy BabiesSM (P4HBSM) program, throughout the second quarter of this second program year. During this period, our enrollment increased and our outreach activities continued.

On June 28, 2012, DCH submitted its draft Transition Plan for the program to CMS. This draft provided a timeline and details about the closeout of the program and the transition of members still enrolled in the program as of December 31, 2013, to an insurance coverage option available under the Affordable Care Act effective January 1, 2014. Updates to this draft plan will be included in these quarterly P4HBSM reports.

This second quarter 2012 report will provide details regarding the performance of the P4HBSM program from April through June of 2012.

ELIGIBILITY

DCH receives a number of reports that assist us in monitoring the P4HBSM program. Some of them include:

- Number of applications for the program by month. Since program implementation, the month wherein we received the greatest number of applications (2004) was September 2011. We received 786 paper applications and 1218 web applications that month. For this second quarter of year two of the program, June 2012 was the month we received the greatest number of applications (1672). 689 were paper applications and 983 were web applications. Altogether, there were 4502 applications submitted for the P4HBSM program during the second quarter of 2012 and since implementation, we have received 27,708 applications for the program.

- Number of individuals deemed eligible for enrollment. By the end of the second quarter of 2012, the year-to-date total of women who had been deemed eligible for enrollment into the family planning component of P4HBSM was 36,381 and 61 women had been deemed eligible for the interpregnancy care (IPC) component of P4HBSM. Two of the women deemed eligible for the family planning component had recently turned 45 and were scheduled to be disenrolled. There is a discrepancy between the applications and the number of women deemed eligible for enrollment and we have attributed this discrepancy to our auto-enrollment process which will be discussed below.
- Reasons why the application process was terminated. We continue to see the following as the top reasons why a P4HBSM applicant's application for the program was terminated: the woman failed to complete the review requirements within the required time frame; it was determined that the applicant was eligible for full Medicaid benefits or other insurance coverage; the request for additional application documents sent via mail was returned; or the applicant was not a US citizen.
- Reasons why women were denied eligibility to enroll in the P4HBSM program after all application materials were received. Right from the Start Medicaid Outreach Project (RSM) staff or staff members from the Georgia Department of Family and Children Services (DFCS) determine eligibility for Medicaid services including P4HBSM services. On a consistent basis, we have identified the following reasons why applications have been denied: non-response for request for additional information in order to complete the application; failure of the applicant to verify their income; infertility is documented on the application; pregnancy is documented on the application; and other insurance coverage is available and documented on the application.

- Average age of the women determined to be eligible for the P4HBSM program. As has been stated in previous quarterly reports, at the time of implementation of the P4HBSM program, the average age of the women deemed eligible for the family planning only services was 27.13 years. By November of 2011, we saw a significant drop in this average age to 24.8 years and as of the end of the second quarter of 2012, the average age was 22.4 years. The same trend is occurring in the women deemed eligible for the IPC component of P4HBSM. Between September 2011 and March 2012, the average age for IPC eligibles was 30 years but in June of 2012, the average age of IPC eligibles was 27.9. The average age of women deemed eligible for the Resource Mother only component of the P4HBSM program is about 24.6 years. These IPC and Resource Mother Only Services deemed eligible women had delivered a very low birth weight infant prior to submitting an application for the program.
- Average monthly income of the women deemed eligible. We have found that of the women deemed eligible for P4HBSM services, those Medicaid eligible women who are blind or disabled and receiving Resource Mother Only P4HBSM services had the lowest average monthly income of all program participants, $628.20. This is contrasted with the average monthly income for women deemed eligible for the family planning only component of P4HBSM, approximately $1,200.00.
- Average time from application to referral. This will be further discussed in the Enrollment section of this report.

Table 1 illustrates that the majority of the women deemed eligible for the Family Planning and IPC components of the P4HBSM program were under the age of 36 and more than two-thirds of the eligible women were in the youngest age group, 18-22.

As of the end of the second quarter of 2012 and as shown in Table 2 below, a significant percentage of the women deemed eligible for the P4HBSM program reside in the metro Atlanta counties of Fulton, DeKalb, Gwinnett, Cobb and Clayton.

CALL VOLUME

DCH receives weekly reports from Policy Studies Institute (PSI), our P4HBSM program's call center manager, regarding the volume of calls received for the program. As shown in the Figure 1 below, we have generally seen an upward trend in the call volume since the start of the program but do note a significant drop in call volume during the month of June 2012, from 3,769 down to 3,230. We did not see a corresponding drop in applications for the program during June 2012 but rather saw an increase of 200 applications from May 2012 (1471) to June 2012 (1672).

ENROLLMENT

As of June 1, 2012, 32,137 women had enrolled in one of the Georgia Families CMOs to receive P4HBSM services (see Figure 2). As mentioned above, implementation of the auto-enrollment process in December 2011 for the family planning only component resulted in more than 8,600 additional women being deemed eligible for the program when compared with the total number of applications. In actuality, the impact of the auto-enrollment process may be even greater when the application denials are taken into consideration. Because we have two different information systems tracking the applications and the number of members enrolled in the CMOs, it is difficult to accurately quantify the actual number of P4HBSM enrollees resulting from auto-enrollment. We will work to quantify that number. Auto-enrollment into the IPC component began on April 1, 2012 and by the end of second quarter of 2012, 61 women had been deemed eligible for the IPC component of the P4HBSM program. This was a significant increase when compared with the number reported for the first quarter (27) and we attributed this increase to the auto-enrollment process. We are still refining this component of the auto-enrollment process and hope to see a greater impact from auto-enrollment for the IPC population in the months to come.

As described under the Eligibility Section above, we continue to receive reports documenting the top reasons for termination of applications for enrollment into the P4HBSM program. However once all required application materials have been received, there has been a documented decrease in the time from the receipt of the application to referral to an RSM worker. As shown in Table

3 below, the average time (in days) from receipt of an application for P4HBSM services to referral to a RSM worker decreased from 22.7 days on average in March 2012 to 11.48 days in June 2012.

Table 3: Average Time from Application to Referral, January-June 2012
FAMILY PLANNING	JANUARY	FEBRUARY	MARCH	APRIL	MAY	JUNE
Average Time (In Days) from Application to Referral to RSM	10.87	17.68	22.66	22.08	10.87	11.48
Average Time (In Days) from RSM request for more information to PSI response	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
Average Time (In Days) from Renewal to Referral to RSM	31.00	31.00	31.00	25.00	27.00	25.00

In our previous report, we also mentioned that third-party liability (TPL) for vision and dental services was an issue which affected the P4HBSM eligible woman's ability to select a CMO in order to receive P4HBSM services. This issue has been resolved as of June 2012.

DIENROLLMENT

During the second quarter of 2012, 295 women were disenrolled between April and June 2012 due to pregnancy. Of this number, only 158 women were disenrolled after the first three months following enrollment into one of the Georgia Families CMOs. We initiated follow-up calls to some of these pregnant, former P4HBSM members to determine their understanding of the P4HBSM program. Through these follow-up calls, we learned these former P4HBSM members lacked understanding about the program or had plans to become pregnant; and were not aware they were enrolled in the program (we feel these were members were auto-enrolled; did not receive the notification letter informing them of their eligibility for the program; and did not select a family planning provider). We will be tracking all of the women disenrolled from P4HBSM due to pregnancy to determine their birth outcomes and their infants' first year of life costs. Our data sharing agreement with the Georgia Department of Public Health will facilitate this tracking.

P4HB COMMUNICATION PLAN and OUTREACH ACTIVITIES

The multi-pronged communications plan for P4HBSM continues to be followed. While most activities now in play are associated with the evaluation phase of the plan, two new activities were conducted that are associated with Phase 1, the education of providers and CMOs. They include the addition of the CMOs' handbooks to the DCH P4HBSM website in June 2012 and shortly thereafter, the DCH P4HBSM website was updated to include additional program information.

Client Outreach

As mentioned in the overview, we have continued to see extensive client outreach regarding P4HBSM conducted during the second quarter of 2012. Specifically, RSM workers from 87 different counties made 387 presentations about the P4HBSM program to interested individuals in communities throughout the state. P4HBSM client outreach activities occurred at a variety of events including health fairs, job fairs, community meetings, cub-scout meetings, church meetings, visits to children's hospitals, and youth development centers. In this outreach process, RSM workers conducted one-on-one presentations as well as large-scale group information sessions. Attendance at most outreach activities was quite high. In Lowndes County, RSM workers promoted P4HBSM to 15,000 people at a Community Day event in April 2012. In Fulton County, RSM workers promoted P4HBSM in April 2012 to 1,000 people at the Georgia

Dome and at Atlanta Technical College. In Clayton County in May 2012, RSM workers promoted P4HBSM to 1,000 people at the Swing into Spring at Star Park event (See Appendix A).

Provider Outreach

In May 2012, DCH staff members, Memi Wilson and Lyndolyn Campbell, made a presentation to the Medical Care Advisory Committee of DCH about P4HBSM. In June 2012, Ms. Wilson and Ms. Campbell presented an update regarding P4HBSM to the state's Title X Women's Health Coordinators during their meeting in Macon, Georgia.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The CMOs revised their P4HBSM provider and client surveys and distributed these revised surveys in April 2012. The provider survey addresses each CMO's network providers' knowledge and understanding of the P4HBSM program, enrollee eligibility, service coverage and potential barriers that remain. The results of these second surveys will be included in the Second Annual P4HBSM Report.

The survey results indicated that only 25% of the CMOs' members enrolled in the P4HBSM program were benefiting from P4HBSM services. While the number of survey participants was small, the results still suggest that the CMOs need to increase their member education activities about the services available under P4HBSM and implement interventions to drive increased member participation in the program. In follow up to the surveys, the CMOs have identified that many of the outreach activities they had been engaged in needed to be enhanced further. Those activities include:

- New Member Welcome Calls to all newly enrolled P4HBSM members
- Telephonic Outreach to members with VLBW deliveries to educate them on the IPC program
- Mailing of program materials to all existing P4HBSM members
- Telephonic outreach to providers to educate them on the P4HBSM program
- Local face to face outreach to community partners (DFCS, WIC, Health Departments, and Birthing centers)
- Enhanced call scripting for call center staff to educate P4HBSM members on the importance of understanding their benefits and services
- Further collaboration with the March of Dimes for the Southeast region to outreach to Medicaid eligible women who delivered infants subsequently admitted to the NICU. The CMOs will be sending representatives to the Parent/NICU meetings and providing education to the parents about the benefits of the IPC component of the P4HBSM program in order to encourage these women to enroll in the P4HBSM program sooner. Memorial Hospital in Savannah, Georgia is one of the targeted sites for this collaboration due to the fact that it has the highest number of low birth weight infants being delivered in that region.

DCH Monitoring Activities

In May 2012, Dr. Janice Carson, Lyndolyn Campbell and Christa Duncan conducted site visits to view the CMOs' IPC case management tracking systems and discuss any concerns regarding the IPC component of the P4HBSM program. These visits were well received by the CMOs' staff members.

ACTION PLANS

1. Outreach to Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) Centers. We are working with Emory

University to develop and implement a webinar for NICU centers in Georgia. This webinar will describe the P4HBSM program, the enrollment process, and the IPC services available through P4HBSM for women who delivered a VLBW infant being cared for in the NICU centers.

2. Completion of the first Annual Report for P4HB: As of the date of this second quarter 2012 report, the data sharing agreement between DCH, Emory, the Department of Public Health and our DSS vendor has been executed and Emory should be receiving the extracts needed for completion of the Annual Report by the end of August 2012.

3. Maintain ongoing communication with family planning and OBGYN providers:
Communication with family planning and OB/GYN providers to inform them about P4HBSM will continue throughout the life of the waiver program.

4. Ongoing engagement of providers involved in High Risk Pregnancies: Our CMOs are continually encouraged to increase their outreach to their network providers who provide care for these high risk pregnant women.

5. Ongoing engagement of Georgia's Title X Family Planning Program:
Georgia's Title X Family Planning Program is sharing data on a quarterly basis with the P4HBSM evaluation team at Emory.

6. Ongoing collaborations with the Department of Public Health (DPH) and the Department of Human Services Division of Family and Children Services (DFCS):

These collaborations aim to further outreach to teens and young women who are uninsured and either paying out of pocket for family planning services/supplies or going without needed services. Our partnerships help us reach women in the local public health department clinics and the DFCS offices. Some of these efforts are reflected in the local meetings held by RSM workers across the state.

EXPENDITURES

As the number of women enrolled in the P4HBSM program has grown, the total federal and state dollars spent on all aspects of the P4HBSM program has increased. The total spent on payments to the CMOs during the second quarter of 2012 was $3.58 million, up 63% from the total of $2.19 million spent in the first quarter of 2012. As in past quarters, the great majority of the expenditures are for those enrolled for family planning only benefits; the total expenses for women enrolled in this component of the waiver equaled $3.56 million in the second quarter of 2012. A much smaller amount, a total of $21,840, was spent during the second quarter of 2012 for the women enrolled in the IPC component of the demonstration. All funds were paid through our CMO capitated PMPM arrangement. We excluded from this total the costs for the low-income or disabled women receiving Resource Mothers/Case Management only services ($2,394.60) during this quarter since their costs cannot be combined with that of the women enrolled in the IPC component of the demonstration.
