A setting, such as an Adult Day Health center, is not isolating if all of the following criteria are true: a. The primary goal of the services provided in that setting are to improve physical and/or mental health and functionality, to maintain independence, and to extend community-based living as long as possible (e.g. by increasing the individual's mobility, stamina, cognition, etc. through therapies delivered in that setting); b. There is opportunity for greater socialization with peers than would be had without the services; c. The individual has made a person-centered choice of the services to be delivered in this setting and that decision is documented in the individual's care plan;; d. Other individuals who do not receive Medicaid HCBS are also eligible to participate in the activities provided at this setting; and e. The individual receiving services in this setting has opportunities and is supported to participate in other self-determined, community integrated activities outside the setting on a regular basis at their choosing.

A setting such as a gated community where residents are predominately individuals with disabilities and where some, but not all, services and supports are provided within the gated community is not isolating if:

- a. The community is comprised of individually leased apartments, where individual leases afford the same responsibilities and protections from eviction that tenants have under the landlord/tenant law of the State/county/municipality; and
- b. Residents freely come and go from and to the community; and
- c. Residential services (Community Residential Alternative, Alternative Living Supports) are not reimbursed by Medicaid in this setting; and
- d. Residents' schedules are individually determined to meet the needs of the individual and not based on communally-established schedules, e.g. mealtime is not pre-established and only served at certain times in a group dining hall; and
- e. Residents have freely chosen the apartment and roommate, if applicable, of their choice.
